Every child deserves a place to call home. Place Matters is a strategy for strengthening families and keeping children at home when it’s safe to do so. Parents receive in-home support and are connected with needed services.

Over 21,000 children have found permanent homes through adoption, guardianship or reunification with families since 2007.

- Adoptions: 4,145 placements
- Guardianships: 4,850 placements
- Reunifications: 12,586 placements

We’ve reduced the number of children in foster care by 53% from 10,330 in July 2007 to 4,837 in June 2015.

Since 2008, the percentage of placements to group homes for children under 18 is down to 8%.

*Electronic records started in 1987

*Excludes children who entered care under a Child with Disabilities Voluntary Placement Agreement
